Hairy and Downy Woodpeckers

Two of our area's most common woodpeckers are difficult to tell apart. Both are small, black and white birds, with white underbellies, white spotted black wings and black and white streaked faces. The males of both species have red patches at the nape of the neck. Both come to suet and sunflower seed feeders. Both work up and down the trunks and branches of trees, searching for insects. Both drum with a continuous pecking on hard surfaces. Drumming is a communication method. Pecking for food is intermittent and much quieter than drumming.

So how do you know which one you are seeing? The hairy woodpecker is the larger of the two, about 9" from head to tail. It has a strong bill that is about as long as its head. The downy is 6" long with a much less impressive beak, sometimes described as resembling a thorn. The diet of both birds is about 75% insects, the remainder being plant-based foods such as grains, acorns, and small fruit. Downy woodpeckers often search for insects on sturdy plants such as mullein or goldenrod in the fall. Hairy woodpeckers are too large to be supported by plants, and confine their bug-hunts to trees. As is typical of woodpeckers, nests are in cavities in dead trees or dead branches of living trees. Often the entrance is placed on the underside of the branch. Unused woodpecker cavities may be adopted by wrens, chickadees, nuthatches, bluebirds, or flying squirrels. Woodpecker populations increase dramatically where there are large numbers of dead or dying trees. Hairy woodpeckers are known to help control infestations of bark-beetles, codling moths and other damaging insects. A standing dead tree in the neighborhood, assuming it is not in danger of falling, can be a wonderful resource for the woodpecker population.

Education Is Their Middle Name

This year the KJ7 Education Foundation is celebrating its 5th anniversary. Since its inception in 2013, this all-volunteer community project has become a powerful force driving educational development for the youth of our community. Founding Board Members Polly Taylor Dennler, Tawnya Feldman, Dirk Hammond, Dale Wolfe, Jim Brocke, Billie Waide and Sarah McDowell Lamont developed the original framework upon which the Foundation has grown.

Billie, Polly and Jim have completed their terms, and Sarah withdrew from the Board. Amber Witt and Tawnya Feldman are now serving as Co-presidents, Jake Lustig is the Vice President, Amy Cothren is the Secretary, and Dirk Hammond is the Treasurer.

The Foundation's central programs provide student scholarships and grants for curriculum and technology development. Every senior graduating from Kendrick High School can receive a Benscoter Lyle Scholarship to apply toward the costs of college, trade school, or another post-secondary educational program. All district students can apply for Discovery Grants, which enable them to propose, develop and complete educational projects in areas of their own special interest. Teaching Resources Grants provide funding for innovative programs or projects that promote higher levels of student learning in new ways. Other initiatives provide opportunities for educational enrichment that enhance existing curricula, and encourage students to reach toward higher goals. The KJ7 Education Foundation is supported entirely by financial donations, and contributions of time and personal effort. The annual fundraising campaign is coordinated through the Idaho Gives Day online platform, and donations are also accepted throughout the year. The fundraising event takes place on May 2nd this year, and residents will receive updates and reminders in the mail. Information will also be posted on the Foundation website and Facebook page. Financial contributions in any amount are greatly appreciated.

When asked why she decided to step up and serve as Co-president, Amber Witt said, "I love living here! I love the community, and I believe in the Foundation. I want to encourage the dreams of children beyond high school." Amber is busy with a job and raising her two young children, but she couldn't pass up this opportunity to help out her neighbors and friends.

Co-president Tawnya Feldman said, "I love our community. I believe our youth have so much to offer, and I want to help them dream and achieve those dreams. I have a passion for helping people live up to their hopes and potential, and the KJ7 Education Foundation offers an avenue to provide that help. As a Customer Support Representative for St. John Hardware, I'm invested both personally and professionally in this region, and my time spent on Foundation Board activities is part of my investment." This sense of commitment to our community characterizes everyone involved with the work of the KJ7 Education Foundation, whether as a Board Member, donor, or volunteer helping out at a single event. All those who join in this project are working for a better future for our local youth, who represent the future for all of us.

Changes in KJ7 Community Development Association Leadership

The KJ7 Community Development Association has a new President: Layne Harris has taken over for Rose Norris, who has served in this position for several years. Becky Witt will be the new Secretary, and Polly Taylor Dennler will continue as Treasurer. Layne expects that the organization will continue in its established path, focusing on building connections within the community and driving economic development. The following programs, services, and activities promote this agenda:

- Publication of the bi-monthly community newsletter fosters communication among residents, businesses, and organizations. Past issues are available on the KJ7 CDA website (kendrick-juliaetta.com).
- The KJ7 CDA website is a perfect jumping-off point for exploring activities in our community. In addition to information about the organization's programs, there are links to City Hall, the local schools, and a variety of other useful and informative websites.
- The "Stars of Our Community" award program celebrates the contributions made by individuals who volunteer their time and energy in ways that help to keep our community strong.
- As a member of the North Central Idaho Travel Association, KJ7 CDA offers local businesses wider exposure through tourism promotion.
- Business development seminars co-sponsored by the extension divisions of UI and WSU have provided valuable learning opportunities, and future workshops are under consideration.

If you would like to become involved in KJ7 CDA activities, visit the organization's website at kendrick-juliaetta.com. In the upper right-hand corner, click on the "Get Involved" button to find a variety of ways that you can participate. Examples include writing for the newsletter, becoming a local volunteer, requesting volunteers for a community project, and nominating individuals for Stars of Our Community awards.

If you are interested in joining the team, the KJ7 CDA is looking for additional board members. Click the "Contact Us" button on the website, and send a message!

Food Bank Support

Sigma Alpha Mu once again has had a food drive for the J/K Good Samaritan Food Bank. This is the third year that the fraternity at WSU has supported our food bank. They have done at least two food drives per year and bring loads of food. This time we had over 600 pounds. We want to thank them for their support towards helping those in our communities.

We also want to thank Palouse Cares who work diligently each year to help area food banks. They have an auction each December to raise money and from that auction they recently sent a check for $2000 to our food bank. Thank you Palouse Cares.

Pastor Larry Haylett
Director J/K Food Bank

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED AT THE FOOD BANK

Over the years the J/K Good Samaritan Food Bank has been very fortunate to have a number of volunteers. Many of our volunteers have served for many years and as they have grown older they have had to stop helping. We have had new volunteers start over the past year and are thankful for them but not as many as have had to retire thus we find ourselves shorthanded. We are in need of people who could work from 1 PM—3 PM on Fridays. We would like enough volunteers so that no one would have to work more than once a month or even every six weeks. The work involves filling food orders for the clients that come each week. If you would be interested in volunteering please contact Larry Haylett at 275-4510 or Jerry Galloway at 289-5324.

As you may know, this newsletter is funded entirely by donations and local advertising and published entirely through volunteer effort. We manage to scrape by, but as printing and mailing costs rise, it can be hard to keep up. The Publishing Team, therefore, asks our readers to consider donating, if you haven’t already contributed. We are so proud of this community effort, and we want it to continue, or even grow! Checks can be made out to KJ7 Community Development Association and sent to PO. Box 204, Kendrick, ID 83537. ## Lions Club Welcomes Three New Members

Brook Fliger, Fritz Fliger, J.C. Fliger, Bruce Roberts, President Jim Brocke, District Governor David Heath

The Lions Club is happy to welcome three new members: J. C. and Brook Fliger and Bruce Roberts. The Fligers were sponsored by their father, Fritz. Bruce Roberts was sponsored by Jim Brocke. They were installed by District Governor, David Heath. This is a momentous year for Lions, as it marks 100 years of continual service all around the world.

At our January meeting, Tiegge Ulschmid, of Idaho Fish and Game, gave an interesting presentation on the steel head restoration project in the Potlach watershed.

Lion Blood Drive Chairman, Darrell Brocke, was happy to report another successful blood drive at Kendrick on February 24th. It may save lives, and will definitely deliver healing for hospital patients.

We apologize for the poor numbers on the current calendar. The color shown in the sample was a dark gold. The result was a light yellow. That color will not be ordered again.

CAMERON EMMANUEL
LUTHERAN CHURCH

FINITUDE AND INFINITY

As winter turns to spring, the church calendar turns to Ash Wednesday and the season of Lent, which in turn moves forward in anticipation of the events of Holy Week and the celebration of the Easter season. But before we can celebrate the joyous news of Jesus' victory over the grave and his miraculous resurrection, we must first encounter Ash Wednesday and the season of Lent.

In many churches congregants come forward during worship on Ash Wednesday and have the sign of the cross placed upon their forehead. Ashes are used to make that sign. The ashes serve as a reminder of our mortality; our finite existence. The author of Ecclesiastes reminds us: "...we all came from dust, we all end up as dust." - Ecclesiastes 3:20 The

Message

This may seem a bit harsh. An overcast and dreary afternoon when what we desire is the bright sunshine that accompanies a stunning spring morning. As signs of new life emerge as spring begins, we often want to put those dark, dormant days of winter behind us. Yet winter reminds us that there must be a death before new life can come forth.

The old passes and the new rises. "For everything there is a season, a time for every activity under heaven. A time to be born and a time to die. A time to plant and a time to harvest." - Ecclesiastes 3:1-2 NLT

And so, as the ash adorns our forehead, we contemplate our finitude; our mortality. The season of Lent serves as a reminder of our brokenness and our estrangement from the One who formed us and made us. And if this were the whole story, as the apostle Paul writes – "we are of all people most to be pitied." - 1 Corinthians 15:19 NRSV

But that is not the whole story. Our Lord's death on the cross on Good Friday leads to the glorious news of his resurrection from the dead on Easter morning. And with that resurrection, our finitude meets the infinity of the Almighty. "But in fact Christ has been raised from the dead... for as all die in Adam, so all will be made alive in Christ." -

1 Corinthians 15:20-22 NRSV

We no longer fear our finitude. We have been given the gift of infinite life with Jesus. Our hope now and our assurance to come.

- Craig Groseclose

Cameron Emmanuel will begin observing the season of Lent with a worship service on Ash Wednesday, March 6th, at 7 PM. The service will include the imposition of ashes and the celebration of Holy Communion. There will be a series of mid-week services each Wednesday evening throughout the Lenten season (3/13, 3/20, 3/27, 4/3, 4/10). The services will begin at 7 PM.

During Lent the congregation will be collecting items for health kits as part of a Lutheran World Relief program. This collection will also serve as a part of the congregation's ongoing Practicing Gracious Generosity venture. In February, as part of the Souper Bowl of Caring, the congregation raised nearly $300 in support of our local food bank.

Mid-April marks the celebration of Holy Week. Sunday, April 14th is Palm Sunday. A special worship service is planned. This year's celebration will include the rite of Confirmation for Gunnar Bruce, Troy Patterson, and Max Schaefer. There will be a potluck meal and reception in their honor following the worship service. The service begins at 10 AM. Worship services will also be held on Maundy Thursday (4/18) and Good Friday (4/19) as part of the observance of Holy Week. Both services will begin at 7 PM. Holy Communion will be celebrated at the Maundy Thursday service. Worship begins at 7:30 AM on Easter Sunday (4/21). A special Easter breakfast will be served following service that morning. All are welcome to join us for any and all of these worship opportunities. Our regular Sunday morning schedule includes Sunday school for all ages at 9 AM followed by worship at 10 AM. We will celebrate Holy Communion each Sunday during the Lenten season.

Hi, I'm Becky Witt, one of three class leaders. I grew up in Kendrick, graduating from KHS in 1972. I attended LCSC's Nursing program, graduating with an Associate Degree in Nursing in 1975, and finally achieving a Bachelor Degree in Nursing in 1992. I am married to Roger Witt, retired water well driller. We have three children and six grandchildren that we greatly enjoy!

I want to stay fit as I age and feel the class is benefiting me as well as those that regularly attend. Feel free to come join us!

Testimonials from participants include:

1. I can turn my head side to side more easily which helps my driving.
2. My balance has improved!
3. I can get up out of a chair more easily.
4. I can go up and down stairs with greater ease.

Hill and Valley Garden Club News

Garden club is springing into Spring. With our cold snowy days one is so busy staying warm and keeping things thawed that we haven't had time to start thinking about spring. But Punxutawny Phill saw his shadow so spring should be around the corner. We need to start planning our vegetable, herb and fruit gardens. And don't forget about your trees and bushes. They also need pruning and fertilizer. Maybe you will plant starters indoor or in your greenhouse.

The Hill And Valley Garden Club is also busy planning our spring events. We celebrated our holidays with a potluck and gift exchange in February. We will hold our Garden Club District meeting in March 21, 2019 registration is at 8:00 AM. We will have a great guest speaker on Hillside Landscaping. Please join us. April 18, 2019 from 5-7PM we will join the Juliaetta library for a presentation on Composting and plant exchange. Please join us and bring plants to share with your neighbors. Also that same evening we will read to the kids "The Saved Seed book". We will give each child who comes a bag with seeds, potting containers and soil to help them get their green thumb. The book will be donated to the library so other kids can read it and receive a bag with seeds and pots.

May is when flower's and trees are in bloom, and is time for our Annual Flower show. The show is in conjunction with the Locust blossom Festival. We encourage the community to participate. We also encourage kids to make their own fairy gardens for the show. We encourage homeschoolers to also participate.

Start planning now and you will reap the benefits over the summer and fall. Don't forget to share ideas and bounty with neighbors. Happy planting. A reminder we meet monthly from September to May on the 4th Tuesday. We have our annual tour in June.

We meet at the Kendrick Grange Hall on Main Street. Please join us and meet great neighbors.

Becky Loomis 360-359-1628.

JK Heritage Foundation is Busy

We have many projects going forth at this time, or "quite a few irons in the fire," as the old saying goes. We are reprinting the Kendrick Historical Tour Booklet, since our original order is depleted. We have made changes and updates to that for the next printing.

We are also in the process of re-publishing the History of Leland book. If we missed something with the first publication, or new pictures have surfaced, we are happy to include it in the next publication.

Contact Loeda Reil 208-289-3001.

Tales Worth Remembering has proven to be a popular book. We are in the process of gathering stories of local events and happenings for the second book. We try to write from historical events that occurred between the years of 1880-1950. If you know of an unusual story or event that happened in your area, please let us know.

Car Hops and Soda Shops” Distinguished Young Women of Kendrick/Juliaetta, 2020

After a two-year hiatus, Distinguished Young Women of Kendrick-Juliaetta is back and coming to Kendrick High School in March. Five KHS juniors will take the stage to compete in categories including interview, talent, scholastics, fitness, and self-expression. The theme this year is “Car Hops and Soda Shops,” and five young women will be participating: Megan Brocke, daughter of Berton and Jamie Brocke, Mya Brown, daughter of Barbara Brown and Daniel Brown, Cassidy Lustig, daughter of Mike and Laura Lustig, Lauren Morgan, daughter of Mike and Amy Morgan, and Mina Sandino, daughter of Jimmy and Wendy Sandino.

Kendrick/Juliaetta DYW 2017, Emily Groseclose, will return to help MC the event. She still speaks highly of the program and feels that it made a lasting impact: “It boosted my confidence and led me to some of the best friends and best times of my high school experience,” she said.

This year’s co-chairs are Chelsea Henson and Holly Boyle. The secretary/treasurer is Patty Kechter; Chantell Hannan is the judge’s chair, and Alice Hensen and Teresa Ireland are the decoration co-chairs. The DYW committee has many members who all contribute to the event and work hard to make it successful. They will be easy to identify this year by their “Pink Lady” jackets, according to Chelsea.

This year’s DWY will receive a scholarship of $1,200. The runner-up will receive $600, and winners of the various categories will earn $100-$200 for each award. Chelsea says she is very excited about the event, and she hopes the community will come out and support this great group of girls.

The event will take place on Saturday, March 16th at 6 p.m. The cost of admission is $8 for adults and $6 for students. The committee will have a cake auction at intermission to raise money for the program. Please come out and support these young women and the Distinguished Young Women program.

Heimgartner Aviation

Heimgartner Aviation has been in business since 1982. Mark Heimgartner started the crop-dusting business, and it wasn’t long before his two young boys were there, helping out in any way they could. “I was pretty young when I knew I wanted to do it,” Brian said of the aviation business.

After graduating from Kendrick High School in 2002, Brian joined the Air Force. He became a mechanic on military airplanes. While stationed in Tokyo, he took a civilian course to get his pilot’s license and began his journey to rejoin his dad.

Brian started working in crop dusting in 2015, learning the ins and outs of applying chemicals to crops. On his first full day of the season in 2016, while training in a piston engine plane, the engine went out. Brian walked away without a scratch. The plane wasn’t as lucky, but Brian felt like he gained a lifetime worth of experience that day. Brian is in his third year of flying for Heimgartner Aviation. They recently purchased a second plane; both planes are Ag-Cat yellow biplanes, which are designed for this type of work. The new plane more than doubles their capacity, and that’s important because the window for applying many of the chemicals is very small, sometimes as short as a few hours. Brian’s brother Andrew, a KHS graduate of 2000, is also a commercial pilot and planning to learn the specific art of crop-dusting. Brian’s dad, Mark, is still working as well, and Brian wants him to keep piloting as long as possible. “It is a fun job,” Brian says, “and I want him to keep having fun.”

Brian values the farmers he works with as well as the community he serves. “Our job is to help the farmers figure out what the crop needs,” Brian says. Sometimes farmers can do it themselves, and sometimes they need a little help. That’s where Heimgartner Aviation comes in. “We offer a specialized tool for farmers in our area.” Their business serves the Kendrick/Juliaetta/Troy/Genesee area and is located on Fix Ridge. Brian says they will always offer high-quality service and strive to make their farmers happy. “After living in Tokyo, I see this whole area—Kendrick, Juliaetta, Troy, and Genesee-- as one community,” and he loves living here and working with the people who live here. ## Museum Open House Planned

Work is going forward on sheet-rocking the stairwell. This work is generously being done by Nate Tschetter and Randy Clemenhagen with some help from Butch Chilberg. We are hoping to get it completed with a new coat of paint by the April 6th Open House event. Generous donations have allowed us to purchase three more standing display units for pictures. We will be able to display more of our pictorial collections in these. They are somewhat difficult to put together, but look nice when they are finished. Those who have been willing to give it a try are Theo and Ray Dygert, Doug & Sharon Harris, and Jan Patterson. Jan remarked, "I would give someone $100 not to have to do this." I echoed that offer.

It doesn't seem possible, but we recently discovered we do not have one single picture of the N. B. Long & Sons store that operated in Kendrick for 65 years. We also need Bob's Garage, the Farmer's Bank, and the old hotels. If you have old photos to share, please let us scan them and return them to you. We are preparing a new exhibit that shows the business as it is today, compared to how it was historically, and we have a lot of gaps.
